AMERICA'S BEST COMMUNITIES UPDATE

A wealth of community activities enhances quality of life. As the New Year begins, so do annual New Year's resolutions. For many of us that means resolving to live healthier. The ABC Quality of Life team reminds us that an essential ingredient to living a longer, healthier life is making social connections. So, when you're tempted to hibernate this winter, remember that connecting with friends who support healthy behaviors is a recipe for living a longer, more satisfying life.

For example, research has shown that belonging to a faith-based community can add four to fourteen years to your life and what a great way to connect with people! The list of activities happening at our local churches is extensive. To see it, go the ChisagoLakes.com, click on resources, scroll down to community connections and then scroll to the section on churches.

2017 Community Ambassador & Award Winners

TANGI SCHAAPVELD 2017 Community Ambassador

The Chisago Lakes Area has many wonderful residents that give back to the community and make significant contributions to the quality of life here. The Chamber likes to honor these special residents with the Community

Ambassador Award. This year's recipient is a face you all know and love who has spent countless hours promoting, advocating for and working in this amazing community. She's the energy behind the America's Best Communities competition, keeping all the project teams on task, encouraging everyone to do just a little bit more and exceed expectations. She was the Chamber director for 7 years, worked with 4-H and many other community organizations on top of that. There is no stopping this wonderful gal when it comes to getting the job done in Chisago Lakes! Congratulations Tangi!

WILD MOUNTAIN
'Best in Marketing'

Wild Mountain This amazing business has been a vital part of the community for many years. This 4th generation family owned and operated business shares the beauty of the St. Croix Valley with residents and visitors year round through skiing and other winter activities and water fun and scenic boat tours in the warmer months. To find out what is happening at this business you can look to social media, radio stations, television, area and regional newspapers, tourism guides and of course the Chamber emails and website and don't forget word of mouth. If there is a way to market the community and their business, Wild Mountain has it covered!!

Franconia Sculpture Park

The Vision Award is given to a business or organization that takes a look at the community, spots a need and finds a way to go forward and fill that need by expanding what they do or who they serve. This organization already fills an amazing need in Chisago Lakes by sharing art through education & experience with residents and thousands of visitors yearly. But, they wanted to share art with more people and offer more hands on art experiences so they have been working towards bringing that to a reality.

MN Chamber Update

Let's make Minnesota Ready to Compete

By Doug Loon

Minnesota's future success depends on a vital statewide business community. We must build on strengths and minimize weaknesses so all businesses can compete in today's global economy.

We look with optimism to make Minnesota ready for the future— ready for change and ready to grow. The new political landscape presents opportunity to advance initiatives at the 2017 Legislature and work with Governor Dayton to create economic growth for all Minnesotans.

The Minnesota Chamber is your full-time government affairs team— playing “offense” and “defense” on range of issues to help build the bottom lines of all Minnesota businesses no matter the company's size, location or industry. Taxes, transportation, health care, and workplace mandates top our legislative agenda.

Enact tax relief: We will seek to reduce uncompetitive taxes to encourage investment, innovation and growth among all businesses. We will renew our efforts to enact meaningful business property tax relief with primary focus on eliminating the automatic inflator in the statewide business property tax. Also on our radar: Reduce income-tax burdens impeding investment in Minnesota businesses and jobs; enhance the research-and-development tax credit; conform Minnesota's estate tax to the federal threshold.

Pass long-term transportation: Political gridlock has blocked transportation funding in recent years. We will seek to pass strategic and sustained funding of roads, bridges and transit. We support generating new funding through efficiencies in operations, bonding and use of transportation-related revenues from the general fund. Lawmakers should also identify metro funding opportunities for the build-out of Twin Cities transit. Those who benefit directly and distinctively from transportation projects should pay for a share of the costs.

Expand health care options: Health insurance costs are skyrocketing for individuals and small businesses. It's critical that we ensure access to affordable, quality health care for employers and their employees. We will seek to make it easier for small employers to self-insure while opposing new mandates and taxes that increase employer and employee costs. We must reform and stabilize the individual market, which supports the self-employed and those with defined-contribution arrangements. We must strengthen public health care programs. Employers have an interest insuring that public-sector programs are financially sustainable for the state & taxpayers and that they prepare participants for transition to coverage in the private sector.

Minimize workplace mandates: We will seek legislation to make explicit the fact that state law preempts municipal regulation of wages and benefits. Minnesota is best served with consistent, statewide laws rather than letting local governments create a patchwork of employer mandates. We will advance legislation to strengthen the law enacted by the 2016 Legislature that prevents abusive lawsuits under the Americans with Disabilities Act and Minnesota Human Rights Act. Also on our agenda is to remove the automatic inflator in the state's minimum wage. As we oppose one-size-fits-all mandates, we will work to share employers' best practices so all businesses in the state are aware of nonregulatory approaches to workplace rules and employee relations that will help them compete for and retain the best employees in a competitive marketplace.

Minnesota has much to be proud of as underscored in our annual Minnesota Business Benchmarks, key economic indicators that measure Minnesota's competitiveness and the health of the state's economy compared with the rest of the country. The benchmarks show stress signals, too. Produced by the Minnesota Chamber and our local Chamber Federation partners, the Business Benchmarks provides an excellent springboard for our legislative agenda.

Minnesota cannot afford to rest on our past successes. We must continue to adapt to changing competitive pressures. Our work at the Minnesota Chamber is to make Minnesota ready for the future — ready for change and ready to grow.
